COURSE DESCRIPTION

Mergers and acquisitions are a common corporate exercise involving both private companies and also public takeovers. The objective of such an exercise is usually related to corporate expansion and the achievement of synergies between businesses in order to improve efficiencies that can help to realize both economies of scale and scope. However, there has been a lack of clarity as to the timeline and legal process involved during the negotiation and execution stages of a merger and/or acquisition deal.

The aim of this course is to have a meaningful discourse with the relevant stakeholders in companies and businesses to understand the various legal procedures involved in a merger and acquisition process especially those which are typically engaged with respect to private companies. The course will also include a discussion of the key clauses that are usually employed in a share and asset acquisition agreement.

The key highlights of the lectures:

- A discussion on the objectives of mergers and acquisitions
- The importance of the due diligence process
- Case studies and hypothetical examples of share and asset sales
- Clauses in the share and asset acquisition agreements
